DEFENDANT GAMMICK'S REPLY TO MOTION TO DISMISS AMENDED COMPLAINT

21 Defendant Richard Gammick, District Attorney of Washoe County, Reno, 22 Nevada, by and through counsel Mary Kandaras, Deputy District Attorney, replies
23 to Plaintiff's Opposition (#128)¹ to his Motion to Dismiss the Amended Complaint 24 (#109) based upon its failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. In 25

26 _____

1 the alternative, defendant District Attorney Gammick seeks transfer of venue to the 2 District of Nevada because there is no personal jurisdiction over him.

3 This reply is based on the following Memorandum of Points and Authorities 4 and all pleadings and papers on file herein.

5 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

6 I. CASE BACKGROUND

7 Plaintiff Judy Anne Mikovits, (“plaintiff”), pro se, brings this action
8 pursuant to 42 U.S.C. §1983.

9 Plaintiff’s allegations arise from her termination as a researcher with the 10 Whittemore-Peterson Institute (WPI), located in Reno, Nevada, and subsequent 11 arrest (92 ¶54, ¶74). Plaintiff alleged that she was falsely accused of stealing 12 documents from WPI (92 ¶58). The only specific allegations against Gammick 13 are that WPI personnel “brought their political influence to the District Attorney 14 Richard Gammick, who allowed the charade to be given face value with no due 15 diligence to ascertain the veracity of the information. Gammick allowed Garcia 16 and Maguire to travel to California and advance a false case that would never have 17 been allowed had Gammick looked into the full circumstances prior to complying 18 with the wishes of Garcia and Maguire...” (92 ¶59). Plaintiff was arrested on 19 November 18, 2011 and detained until a hearing on November 22, 2011 (92 ¶103, 20 ¶106, ¶107).

21 The remaining allegations against Gammick are that his actions were in 22 furtherance a conspiracy (92 ¶135). It is alleged that he “controlled” activities of 23 law enforcement officers (92 ¶138, 139, 141, 144, 147, 149, 151, 153, 155).
24 Gammick allegedly “caused” Plaintiff to be arrested without a warrant (92 ¶157).

25 Gammick filed a Motion to Dismiss the Amended Complaint (#109).
26 Gammick contended that the complaint failed to state a claim. Gammick also urged

1 the application of the statute of limitations and doctrine of prosecutorial immunity
2 as a bar the Amended Complaint (Id.). In support of his position, Gammick
3 provided a copy of the criminal complaint dated November 17, 2011 (#109-1), 4 affidavit in support of arrest dated November 17, 2011 (#109-2) and dismissal of 5 action dated June 11, 2012 (#109-3). In the alternative, Gammick argued that the 6 venue be changed to the District of Nevada.

7 Plaintiff opposed the motion (#128). In support of the claim that Gammick 8 ‘participated in the conspiracy,’ plaintiff offered the new allegation that a witness 9 “was subjected to such a high level of harassment by Gammick, that he (the 10 witness) fled the country! The D.A. forced him to have periodic telephone contact 11 and threatened that if he fell out of touch, he would be arrested and jailed” (#128 at 12 16). In response to the statute of limitations argument, plaintiff claimed that her 13 injury constitutes a “continuing violation” or “continuous accrual” because of 14 alleged damage to her reputation and the fact that she does not have possession of 15 the laboratory notebooks, the ownership of which is disputed (#72 at 11 and 12).
16 Plaintiff contended that prosecutorial immunity does not apply because of 17 Gammick’s “willful scheme to deprive a citizen of their civil rights” (#128 at 16).

18 Throughout the plaintiff’s Opposition, she admitted that the “Whittemore 19 Consortium” lied to law enforcement (#128 at 11, 12, 16). She also admitted that 20 she was accused of stealing nineteen laboratory books and other property (#128 at 21 6 and 12). Plaintiff admitted that a court ordered her to return the laboratory books 22 in a civil case (#128 at 8). She also conceded that a bankruptcy court recognized a 23 claim filed by the Whittemores (#128 at 9).

24 Gammick reiterates the arguments presented in the motion to dismiss. Even 25 if her allegations are accepted as true, plaintiff has failed to present a colorable

26 //

1 claim. She has not overcome the statute of limitations and prosecutorial immunity 2 defenses.

3 II. COMPLAINT SHOULD BE DISMISSED FOR FAILURE TO STATE

4 A CLAIM

5 Plaintiff's amended complaint fails to provide sufficient facts under a 6 cognizable legal theory. The allegations against Gammick are conclusory and 7 speculative. Accepted as true, these allegations do not state a claim against a 8 prosecutor.

9 III. APPLICABLE DEFENSES PRECLUDE CLAIMS AGAINST

10 DISTRICT ATTORNEY GAMMICK

11 A. Statute of Limitations

12 The Court may take judicial notice that the Washoe County District 13 Attorney's office dismissed the criminal complaint on June 11, 2012 (#109-3).
14 This shows that plaintiff's case is barred by the statute of limitations. Defendant 15 Gammick incorporates the arguments presented by defendant Geoff Dean in his 16 reply papers (#78).

17 There is no equitable doctrine that tolls the statute of limitations as to the 18 alleged actions of Gammick. "The continuing violation doctrine aggregates a series 19 of wrongs or injuries for purposes of the statute of limitations, treating the 20 limitations period as accruing for all of them upon commission or sufferance of the 21 last of them. Finally, under the theory of continuous accrual, a series of wrongs or 22 injuries may be viewed as each triggering its own limitations period, such that a 23 suit for relief may be partially time-barred as to older events but timely as to those 24 within the applicable limitations period." Aryeh v. Canon Business Solutions, Inc., 25 55 Cal.4th 1185, 1192 (2013).

26 //

1 To justify application of a “continuing violation” theory, the complaint must 2 identify a series of discrete, independently actionable alleged wrongs or a wrongful 3 course of conduct became apparent only through the accumulation of a series of 4 harms. Aryeh at 1198. This is not alleged with respect to Gammick, whose last 5 alleged contact with the plaintiff was on June 11, 2012.

6 To justify application of a “continuing accrual” theory, the complaint must 7 allege that there is a continuing or recurring obligation. The theory of continuous 8 accrual supports recovery only for damages arising from those breaches falling 9 within the limitations period. Aryeh at 1199. In this case, the complaint is silent on 10 any actions of Gammick after June 11, 2012.

11 Plaintiff claimed that the defendants began a chain of events that started in 12 September of 2011 and has continued without differentiation or separation to the 13 present day. Plaintiff alleged that she feels the “effects” of defendants’ conduct 14 even today because her name is not cleared and the defendants have her notebooks.
15 However, that is not the standard by which accrual is judged. The alleged conduct 16 of Gammick ended with the dismissal of her criminal complaint on June 11, 2012.
17 At that time plaintiff had knowledge of “misuse of legal process” as to Gammick
18 and the action had accrued. Plaintiff provided no legal basis as to why the settled 19 common law rules of accrual do not apply to her case.

20 B. Prosecutorial Immunity

21 The actions attributed to Gammick fall squarely within the prosecutorial 22 function and are intimately related to the judicial process. See Imbler v. Pachtman, 23 424 U.S. 409 (1976). Plaintiff alleged that Gammick “harassed witnesses, 24 participated in a fraudulent enterprise and caused an innocent person to be 25 incarcerated” (#128 at 16). However, this allegation does not deprive Gammick of 26 the application of prosecutorial immunity. See Burns v. Reed, 500 U.S. 478

1 (1991)(prosecutor’s actions in appearing before a judge and presenting evidence in 2 support of a motion for a search warrant clearly involved the prosecutor’s role as 3 advocate for the State, rather than his role as administrator or investigative officer).

4 In Imbler v. Pachtman, the Supreme Court established the functional test to 5 determine whether absolute or qualified immunity should apply to a prosecutor.
6 Id. at 430. If a prosecutor is acting in his role as an advocate of the State, he 7 receives absolute immunity. Id. at 431. The filing of a criminal complaint and the 8 dismissal of a case are prosecutorial functions. See Kalian v. Fletcher, 522 U.S.
9 118 (1997)(we examine the nature of the function performed, not the identity of 10 the actor who performed it).

11 Plaintiff conceded that the Whittemore defendants lied to Gammick (#92 12 ¶58, 59 and 60). Plaintiff alleged that Gammick should have exercised “due 13 diligence” to determine the veracity of the information (#92 ¶59). That Gammick 14 may have given credence to Whittemore and UNRPD evidence in his decision to 15 prosecute is covered by prosecutorial immunity under Imbler, 424 U.S. at 431. The 16 fact that a judge signed off on the arrest warrant, which was sworn out by a police 17 officer, shows there was probable cause (#128-2).

18 Plaintiff alleged that Gammick conspired to have her arrested and falsely 19 imprisoned. However, Gammick’s intent is not relevant to whether immunity 20 applies. “Intent should play no role in the immunity analysis.” Ashelman v. Pope, 21 793 F.2d 1072, 1078 (9th Cir.1986) (en banc); see also McCarthy v. Mayo, 827 22 F.2d 1310, 1315 (9th Cir.1987) (“The intent of the prosecutor when performing 23 prosecutorial acts plays no role in the immunity inquiry.”); Lyghtle v. Breitenbach, 24 139 Fed.Appx. 17 (10th Cir. 2005) . The functions performed by Gammick are 25 immune from liability.

26 //

1 IV. CONCLUSION

2 Based upon the foregoing, District Attorney Gammick respectfully requests 3 that the case be dismissed in its entirety.
